Voluntary English Teaching

Nov
15

AustCham Thailand sponsors a number of schools in Chonburi province. Part of this support includes the provision of English language classes which are conducted by volunteers from our community. Volunteers work with small groups of children aged between 5 and 12 years and play simple games and activities which encourage the children to use the English language. No prior teaching experience is necessary, just a lot of enthusiasm! Please email office@austchamthailand.com for more detail.

The Embassy TV Series reveals just how badly Australians can behave abroad

As we know by now, Australians are avid travelers and Thailand is one of their favorite destinations. While the majority embark on stress-free vacations, a relatively small number find themselves in need of consular help, be it the result of bad luck, unforeseen circumstances, bureaucratic red tape or their own stupidity.
